Dear Colleagues,

We look forward to welcoming you to the 38th Annual Thursday Evening Learning Series presented by the Centre for Continuing Health Professional Education, Faculty of Medicine, McGill University.

This series is aimed to meet the needs of primary care physicians, medical and surgical residents, nurses, specialists and other health care professionals. The Planning Committee has sought out top professionals in their field of practice to deliver 54 current topics. These presentations cover the latest updates and challenges common to your practice.

Participants will have a chance to meet with colleagues and presenters during the welcome reception.

High quality accredited education and low-cost registration fees make this event the CME conference not to be missed.
